Statement of Intent:

Started in 2007, there have been 218 staff from LeadingAge Georgia member organizations complete this annual Leadership program.

The foundation of the program will be focused on learning to lead with “Emotional Intelligence”. In “Primal Leadership”, co-author Richard E. Boyatzis states: “Understanding the powerful role of emotions in the workplace sets the best leaders apart from the rest – not just in tangibles such as better business results and the retention of talent, but also in the all-important intangibles, such as higher morale, motivation, and commitment”. As leaders, it is imperative that we better utilize our core emotional competencies - self awareness, empathy, social mindfulness and relationship management – to truly be successful in the workplace.

Incorporating the aspects of “developing self” through Emotional Intelligence principles of connecting with others, developing relationships and being aware of how to manage self, we will pull from the some of the following ideas (and others) for specific programs so participants will have practical take-home tools to apply as they focus on their personal leadership development.

Participants in this program can be staff working at any level in your organization. Successful organizations want strong leaders in all areas of their organizations. We encourage the identification and application of minority staff who are emerging leaders in your organization.

Leadership Academy Coaches:

Presenters and facilitators will provide information and activities tied to developing and implementing a personal action plan, time management, understanding your temperament, mastering conflict, understanding the continuum of aging services, emotional intelligence strategies, each of the five practices of exemplary leadership (Modeling the Way, Inspiring a Shared Vision, Challenging the Process, Enabling Others to Act, and Encouraging the Heart), person-centered care/services (culture change), influence and public policy, and overall leadership in action.
